ENJOY SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION

DEPT. OF PHYSICAL TRAINING GIVES EXHIBIT.

The physical training classes of our school rendered a demonstration program Friday night before one of the largest audiences that has ever been present in the school's gymnasium in some time. Every available seat was occupied and many were standing.

Also the department of art presented a fine display of the work of the pupils.

Following is the program as presented:

Chariot Dance.....Selected
Parade of the Wooden Soldiers
Grade Boys
Rhythmic Plays.....Second Grade
Volley Ball Tournament
Junior and Senior High Boys
Irish Tilt
Junior and Senior High Girls
Slag Ball
Fifth and Sixth Grade Boys
Ballroom Dance.....Selected
Swedish Days Order
Fifth Grade Boys and Girls
Sailors' Hornpipe.....Selected
Folk Dances
May Pole Dance.....Grade Girls
Miss Turcott's dancing classes showed clever training and splendid results from the hard work on the part of the teacher and pupils.

Miss LaSalle's classes in art presented a beautiful display of posters and designs of various varieties and colorings and attracted much favorable comment and interest.

These are annual events in Grayling schools that are looked forward to by the parents and the children alike and each year there are new features to add to the interest.

The physical education work is under direction of Jacob Burnham and Miss Turcott and they are deserving of much praise for their accomplishments. The games and dances were exceedingly clever and interesting. The audience was heart and soul in the athletic games and the children appeared wrapped up in the contests that it seemed that they hardly realized that there was a large crowd looking on. These contests made a great hit with the spectators.

The children of Grayling school know how to play the game and play it with the keenest effort, and also to play the game square. From the smallest boy and girl to the largest there was enthusiastic interest in the contests, and all, individually and collectively, out to win.

FREE CHEST EXAMINATION

FINANCED BY THE CHRISTMAS SEALS YOU BUY.

Every man, woman and child in Crawford County will have an opportunity to benefit from the sale of Christmas seals when the Michigan Tuberculosis association conducts a free chest clinic examination in the Grayling High school on Saturday May 23rd, beginning at 8:30 a. m. in Grayling.

At this time an opportunity will be given to anyone living in Crawford County to have his chest examined free of charge by a physician who has made a special study of tuberculosis. All apparently well members of families which have had a death from tuberculosis and any others who are in doubt concerning the condition of their lungs are urged to come to the clinic.

Tuberculosis is not an inherited disease. Tuberculosis can be prevented and is usually curable if found in time.

All who plan to take advantage of the chest examination are urged to come early. Children under twelve years of age should be accompanied by parent or guardian.

Police in Detroit raided a factory where thousands of labels for rare old whiskeys and wines were being printed. Scientists engaged in increasing the longevity of the human race will probably quit when they hear that piece of news.

EASTERN STARS HOLD DISTRICT MEETING.

The tenth annual meeting of the Eastern Star, was held at Cheboygan, last Friday, May 15th in the Masonic temple and called forth a large assembly of members from the eleven chapters that comprise the association.

Three grand officers and six past grand officers were in attendance, making it the largest attendance of Grand officers to the association since organizing.

Grayling Chapter had the honor of having three officers Mrs. Irene Simpson, president, Melvin A. Bates, first vice president, and Mrs. Mary Fehr, secretary present. Miss Katherine Clark was chosen associate conductor for the degree work which was exemplified in the evening by officers from the affiliated chapters.

Grayling will entertain the association in 1926.

The following Grand officers were present: Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Dolly Buckingham, Detroit; Worthy Grand Patron, Peter Larson, and wife, Pontiac; Grand Chaplin, Catherine Olds, Alpena.

Following are the Past Grand officers present: Past Grand Matron, Ada Sangster, Cheboygan; Past Grand Patron, Wm. Brown Lapeere; Past Grand Mortha, Belle Burdick, Detroit; Past Grand Electa, Mary Chapman, Cheboygan; Past Grand Electa, Mary Liddy, Detroit; Past Grand Electa, Rae Cramer, Gaylord.

NEW GRAYLING-CHEBOYGAN BUS LINE.

Joseph Cassidy, son of Thos. Cassidy, popular proprietor of Shoppington Inn, has instituted a bus line running between Grayling and Cheboygan. The bus leaves Shoppington Inn at Grayling at 8:00 o'clock in the morning and reaches Cheboygan at 11:30 a. m. Returning it leaves the latter city at 2:30 p. m. and arrives in Grayling at 6:00 p. m. Stops are made at all points between these cities on trunk line M-14.

This schedule will be a great accommodation to commercial travelers and others as the running time is at an hour when there are no train available. The running schedule is as follows:

A. M.	M.	L.	A.	P. M.
8:00	0	Grayling	8:00
8:20	9	Frederic	5:40
8:35	17	Waters	5:25
9:00	28	Gaylord	5:00
9:20	36	Vanderbilt	4:40
10:00	58	Wolverine	4:00
10:40	65	Indian River	3:35
11:00	72	Topinabee	3:20
11:30	80	Mullet Lake	3:00
11:30	80	Cheboygan	2:30

SAYS MICHIGAN SURPASSES EUROPEAN RESORTS.

Marvin Harrison Organization, Inc., Marvin Harrison Organization, Inc., Detroit, just back from a business trip to Florida, declares that Michigan and Florida are sadly overlooked as America's play grounds by the country's pleasure seekers.

"Annually hundreds of people are booking passage to Europe where they spend their time and millions of dollars at European watering places far inferior to those to be found in this country," he says.

"The states of Michigan and Florida are America's playgrounds and are being sadly overlooked. The time soon is coming when the resorts of Michigan and Florida will be internationally reputed. This condition will exist when Americans decide to 'see America first'."

FREE METHODIST CHURCH NOTES.

Do your children attend Sunday School? We would be glad to see them next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock come with them and join the Bible Class.

Preaching at 11 o'clock and again at 7 in the evening.

The W. H. M. S. of the Free Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Annie Johnson May 12th. Meetings are well attended and good interest shown. We enjoyed a reading on the life of C. Moulton as a missionary by Mrs. Atwood. Also a talk by Mrs. E. Jewella of Afton on "Ways and Means to Carry on Missionary Work." The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Brown, May 28th. All are welcome.

POST TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day—it is nearly here, and it's one of the finest and noblest of all holidays in any nation. Yet, how many know its origin and its real meaning?

Commander Alfred Hanson of the Grayling Post of the American Legion here, today gave just a brief outline of the day's history and its present significance. The Post is planning to cooperate with other organizations for a proper observance of the day.

"Memorial Day" said the Legion leader, "was originally instituted by"

SUPRISED OR ASTONISHED.

Fine Distinction Can Be Drawn in Words for Clearer Expression.

There are many words in the English language that have almost the same meaning, and yet a fine line of distinction should be drawn where the aim is to use the most expressive word for the particular purpose.

In the New Universities Dictionary a little story is told—yes, a little story, for this is much more than a dry book of words—which illustrates the difference between the two words "surprise" and "astonish," which are so often used synonymously. The story runs as follows:

When Mrs. Blank discovered her son taking a glass of milk from the cupboard late at night, she told him she was surprised. He replied:

LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR SENATOR

The candidacy for the senatorship in the 28th senatorial district of Rep. Roy McKibbin was formally launched last Friday night at Idlewild Resort at Prudenville when a dozen of the Lansing newspaper correspondents for state papers dropped in on Rep. McKibbin and announced they were to remain over the week end.

The announcement temporarily took McKibbin off his feet. During the legislative session McKibbin's work attracted the attention of the correspondents and at the conclusion of the session two weeks ago they decided to visit the Roscommon solon in his home town and spend a few days with him.

Among the correspondents who were guests at Idlewild were Fred A. Crimes, representative of the Booth syndicate at the capitol; Haimar Hatcher, Detroit News; Don Cull, Lansing News and Detroit Times; J. Carl Shield, Lansing Journal; Lee Richardson, Lansing Journal; E. S. Leggett, Detroit Free Press; Edwin Heckler, United Press; "Duke" Shilson, Associated Press; Ed Nowack, Local News Bureau; Col. Roy C. Vandercok, former head of State Police now of the Michigan Railroads Association; Henry H. Tinkham, former North correspondent at the capitol, now with the Consumers Power Company; Homer Rutledge, former state fire marshal.

The senatorial race in the 28th district promises to be a pretty one. It is understood that Senator H. S. Karcher of Rose City will not be a candidate due to ill health. Rep. Geo. Roxburgh of Reed City is also a candidate. Roscommon Herald-Times.

BLOCK SELLING TO END SATURDAY

GRAYLING POST ENTHUSIASTIC OVER RESULTS OF SALE.

The block-selling campaign put on by Grayling Post 106, American Legion will close Saturday. The sale of the blocks to enable the members to put a new foundation under the hall recently donated them by the Women's Relief Corps has met with hearty approval and the boys are much enthused over the results.

If you haven't purchased a block do so at once and get your name on the Honor Roll. Blocks are going fast. Following are those who have purchased since our last issue:

Michigan Happenings

Berrien County splashed color all over the many of Michigan when it staged its blossom festival. More than 50 floats, many of them buried in blossoms, symbolized the fertility of the Michigan county which is beaten in output only by three states in the Union. The trio which must marshal a whole commonwealth's resources to pass Berrien are Florida and California, with their enormous yield of citrus fruits, and New York, famous for apples and grapes. Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, twin cities, joined hands in staging the spectacle.

William Watkins, inspector of State Police in Macomb and St. Clair counties, and one of the state's principal witnesses in the grand jury investigation of charges of graft in Mt. Clemens police court circles was waylaid and shot at by six unidentified men. He was driving to his home in New Baltimore when he was attacked. Three shots were fired. One went wild and the others penetrated his automobile. One lodged in the car's frame on a level with his head.

Automobile owners who purchased 1925 license plates under the old weight and horsepower system, and who have not remitted the cost, were more under the new weight law, will be deprived of their plates. Charles J. DeLand, secretary of state, said. He ordered the Detroit branch of the Department of State to take the plates from one driver, unless he pays the difference, and is checking up on others who have failed to pay.

Ypsilanti high school won the debate with Grosvenor high school and will now debate with Ann Arbor for the state championship. Miss Ruth LaFam, Miss Lorraine McAndrew and Charles Hill took the negative side of the question. The judges, heads of the public speaking, political science and educational departments of the U. of M., cast a unanimous vote for Ypsilanti.

Charles Langdon, 15-year-old school boy of Paw Paw, who, according to Sheriff Glenn Weaver, admits shooting Mat Edgely, a farmer near DeWitt, with the object of robbery, was bound over to Circuit court by Justice W. A. Prater, following his arraignment on a charge of intent to commit homicide. Edgely is suffering from the effects of a 22-caliber bullet in his skull.

Armed with picks, axes and shovels, 70 of Kalamazoo's leading businessmen, invaded the Dow District along the river-front to help clear away rubbish and overgrowth. The "bust" was the first step toward conversion of the unsightly "jungles" district into a city park, the 100-acre tract having been purchased a year ago by the city commission for $50,000.

The Michigan Retail Jewellers' Association, which at the closing session of its annual convention at Grand Rapids, became affiliated with the Michigan Retailers Council, electing J. H. Garlick, Detroit, as president. Detroit pressed an invitation for the 1926 convention but the city will not be selected by the board of directors until early next year.

Harry S. Cole, clerk of the Wayne Circuit Court, who was suspended by the judges of the court for insubordination in refusing to carry out orders for assignment of cases, was asked to hand in his resignation. Judge Adolph F. Marschner, presiding judge, said if he fails to resign, Cole's dismissal will be asked of Gov. Alex. J. Groesbeck.

Michigan Council of the Parent-Teacher Association, in annual convention at Saginaw, is on record for the high school fraternity bill passed by the last legislature and which awaits the governor's signature. The bill provides students may be barred from classes if they join fraternities. About 1400 persons are attending the convention.

Those Detroiters who have been making merry in past seasons during the week end at Fair Haven and other country resorts, will miss their Sunday dancing this year. Sheriff D. Tarbin announced that Sunday dancing in St. Clair county is under the ban. Proprietors of dance halls will be arrested, the official stated.

The Nicholson Universal Transit Co. of Detroit has bought the steamship Thomas Davidson from the Crosby Transit Co. The Davidson will be taken to the Great Lakes Engineering Works, Detroit, where she will be put into the automobile carrying trade.

Funds for the construction of a new cottage at the Newberry hospital, to replace the one recently destroyed by fire, were released by the Administrative Board. It will cost about $45,000.

Officials of the Michigan State Prison at Jackson are searching for Vito Mangiapane, who made his escape from the State cement plant at Chelsea. The prisoner, serving a life term for homicide, was a trusty at the plant.

The village of Sherman, the first county seat of Wexford county, may soon lose its postoffice unless some one is willing to take the job of postmaster. The present incumbent is a woman, Mrs. S. D. Niswander, who has resigned, as there is not enough money in the office. Sherman, at one time, was a thriving lumber village, but with the passing of that industry the town began to retrograde, this being hastened by the removal of the county seat to Manton and later to Oshtemo.

Mario Theresa Corby, child heir apparent to the estate of Thomas W. Corby, won the first round of her fight to keep Corby's nephews and nieces from appropriating the estate when the Supreme Court at Lansing ruled that she was entitled to name her own administrator. The case was brought to Lansing when Corby's nephews and nieces appealed from a Wayne Circuit Court decision whereby the Security Trust Co. was named administrator.

Three prisoners employed on the road building gang stationed at Ypsilanti, were returned to the Michigan State Prison at Jackson for creating a disturbance in their quarters. The officers were called to the camp when the disturbance began as it was feared that regular guards would be insufficient to cope with the outbreak. An investigation disclosed that the men had smuggled liquor into the camp.

Battle Creek's first air circus will be held at the city's new airport Aug. 28, 29 and 30. It was announced. The circus, according to members of the Chamber of Commerce airport committee, will bring to Battle Creek approximately 50 planes and pilots. Including 10 or more from Selfridge Field. Arrangements are being made to bring Capt. "Eddie" Rickenbacker, of Detroit, American ace, to the circus.

Harrison is trying to get possession of a small island in Budd Lake for development as a park. It consists of 1.4 acres. One of the last acts of President Harding was to sign an executive order withdrawing the island from public entry. It is as yet in that status. Representative Woodruff will introduce a bill next Congress to provide that it may be sold to Harrison or the state of Michigan.

Owosso policemen, before long, expect to win the reputation for having the neatest appearance of any guards of the law in Michigan. Police Chief Earl Whitehorse, who took over that office a few days ago, issued his first written order to members of the force. It reads: "Hereafter every police officer in Owosso will at all times have his uniform pressed, his shoes shined, and be cleanly shaved."

"An attempt at piracy" was the expression used by Captain E. G. Ratray, of the package freighter Raleigh when he docked in Alpena to describe a brush which took place off Harbor Beach when the crew of the big lake tug Saville attempted to take away from the Raleigh a salvage prize, the scow Niagara, which the Raleigh found adrift and unmanned menacing navigation off Port Huron.

Falling nearly 1,000 feet when his airplane nose dived and crashed into an apple tree at Flint, Ward E. Pritchard, 23 years old, 728 Pershing street, commercial aviator and automobile salesman, was injured fatally while approximately 200 persons who came to witness the exhibition flight looked on. Pritchard died without regaining consciousness an hour after he was taken to Hurley hospital.

The Howarth and Wood reappointment bills, which will give Wayne county 21 seats to the house and 7 in the senate in the 1927 legislature, are on the statute books of Michigan. Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck, wrote the concluding chapter of Wayne's fight for just representation when he scribbled the executive signature on the Wood bill.

The new charter which will be presented to the city of Wyandotte by its charter commission will provide for government by a mayor and six commissioners and mayor as at present. A proposal to return to the old aldermanic form of government and another to inaugurate a form of the city manager plan of government have been defeated.

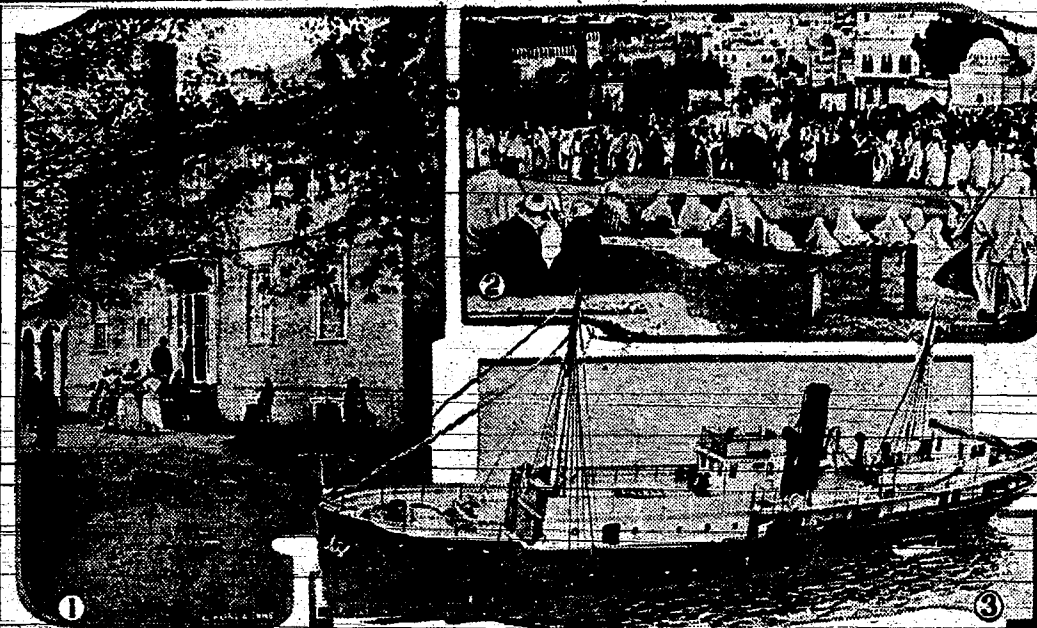

The sale of Woodstock Island, in St. Clair River and nearly opposite Sombra, Ont., to the Detroit Council of the Knights of Columbus has been reported. James G. Pagan, Detroit, is owner of the island. The sale price is said to be $20,000. The island, which is in Canadian water, will be converted into a summer resort, it is said.

At the request of the Holland Game and Fish Protective Association, two State chemists have arrived at Holland to examine the water of Black Lake. The association charges that certain factories dump chemical waste and other refuse into the lake making it an uninhabitable place for fish.

Reed City definitely has entered the race for the northwestern normal school. Committees have been appointed, options on desirable locations have been taken to gain the attention of the authorities to get the location here.

New telephone rates for Michigan and particularly the city of Detroit, probably will not be fixed by the public utilities commission until the commission's inspectors have completed their appraisal, and audit. It is not likely to be ready for announcement until June 1. Several weeks of hearings are expected after the new value of Michigan Bell telephone holdings is determined and this is expected to bring the completion of the case late this summer.

Aldermen who play hockey from council meetings will have to report armed with a good excuse for their absence or else suffer the loss of their seats, according to the terms of an ordinance passed by the Iron Mountain council. Under the terms of the new measure, aldermen who miss two meetings in succession must account for their absence or be removed from office. The ordinance required that the city clerk notify any councilman who has been absent two consecutive meetings by registered mail.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Government's Grand Assault on Demon Rum Hits Land Traffic.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

UNCLE SAM, as represented by the Treasury department, feels that he has rather effectively checked the smuggling of illicit liquor from the run fleet on the Atlantic coast, and now is going after the land-traffic in booze with every agency at his command. President Coolidge is taking an active interest in the crusade for enforcement of the prohibition law and has asked Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to forward it by every available means.

Every day agent will be employed in the campaign, and the support of the general public is to be sought through posters and bulletins that will be pasted throughout the country. This bill-board-propaganda, setting forth the "crime of intoxicating liquor," is the pet idea of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and has been approved by his superiors only after long argument. The combination of "bulletins and bulletins" is hoped will prove doubly effective. Under the supreme command of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews in directing the campaign are Rear Admiral Billard, commander of the coast guard, Commissioner Haynes, and E. C. Yellowley, head of the field forces. David H. Blair, commissioner of internal revenue, will give whatever aid is required from his bureau.

Admiral Billard is not letting the public know just now what the dry navy is doing, but it is known that the blockade of the rum-running fleet has proved quite effective. Many of the vessels have departed, and though a few new ones have appeared in the line, so close a watch is kept that very little liquor has reached the shore. The blockaders are aided by hundreds of searchlights so powerful that their beams pierce the fogs on which the smugglers had counted. There are current many stories of attacks on the coast guard men and threats against them, as well as of attempts to corrupt them. But the booze runners are not getting far on those lines. Naturally their activities were discussed in a considerable extent in the Great Lakes. Along the coast, the dry forces are preparing to combat them. Many believe that the coast guard will be in command there and it is not likely that Canada will object to the running of such vessels.

On the coast of southern California, conditions are reported to be bad, from the prohibition point of view. There are only two coast guard cutters there and the smugglers, it is said, are landing between $10,000 and $20,000 worth of whisky every day in the vicinity of San Pedro. The dry officials admit they cannot cope with the traffic except on land.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover in a trade report includes in the invisible foreign trade of the United States for 1924 an item of $40,000,000 of smuggled liquor. This sum is vastly more than is admitted by the prohibition officials but far less than the estimates of the bootleg syndicates.

MAKING public a preliminary report of the Department of Agriculture's investigation into the extraordinary fluctuations in future grain quotations between January 2 and April 8, Secretary Jardine warned all grain exchanges designated as contract markets that they must either put into effect stricter rules looking toward the prevention of price manipulation or else face the probability of further and more stringent legislation governing the trading in futures. By all those concerned the warning was construed as a threat to revoke the charter of the Chicago board of trade as a contract market unless it promptly provided remedies for existing conditions. Indeed, Mr. Jardine already has issued a similar warning to representatives of the Chicago board. The secretary made it plain and emphatic that if that organization wishes to continue to enjoy the benefits derived from its designation as a contract market, it must draft more definite and stringent rules facilitating the operation and maintenance of federal supervision, preventing the development and dissemination of rumors in the nature of false, misleading and inaccurate reports and statements, preventing actual or attempted manipulation or cornering of the markets and discouraging any tendency toward excessive over-speculation.

Wild Horse Roundups Planned in Montana

Helena, Mont.—Wild horse roundups, planned under much the same system as is used by some western states for jackrabbits, are being organized in several sections of Montana under a law passed by the last legislature.

The law, which was hard fought on sentimental grounds by old-time stockmen and ranchers in the legislature, is designed to rid sections of the state of the small, wild range horses, commonly designated as cayuses, which are considered by stockmen as utter worthless.

Farmers complain that bands of these horses, when range feed gets poor, sweep down upon the unfenced pasture lands in the agricultural districts, break down fences and damage growing crops.

The live stock department estimates that there are 400,000 head of these wild horses on the Montana ranges. Under the law county commissioners, upon sufficient petition, may designate a roundup foreman, who organizes the drive, impounds the horses gathered, records their brands, if any, and causes the publication of a notice under which owners may redeem their stock as they wish by payment of a small fee. The remainder are destroyed.

It has been reliably stated that the amount of food consumed by Montana's worthless cayuses would sustain 2,000,000 head of sheep, and 800,000 head of cattle annually.

French operations against the Rifians in the French zone of Morocco are proceeding successfully, though the tribesmen are putting up a stout resistance. Wednesday of last week there was a series of lively battles along a wide front. The French used all branches of the service and drove back the Rifians with heavy loss, relieving all but two of the beleaguered outposts.

General de Chambrun, who used to be the military attaché in Washington and married Nicholas Longworth's sister, is in command of the French forces. With the assurance from the government of large reinforcements he is preparing to oust the invading tribesmen entirely from the French zone.

FOREIGN MINISTER BRIAND and let it be known that they are in favor of reaching an agreement with the United States on the debt question within fifteen days, and there is great satisfaction felt thereat in Washington. It is understood that Ambassador Dinesen will conduct the negotiations for France. Jean Parmentier, a skilled French financier, has just arrived in this country and it may be he will help. Mr. Briand thinks the security question can be settled on the five-power treaty basis proposed by Germany, together with another treaty making safe the eastern frontier.

LEON TROTSKY'S return to Moscow is having some interesting results. He has been elected a member of the soviet cabinet and is being figuratively patted on the back by his late foes, who seem to have modified their ideas of relations with the outer world. But a confidential agent of the British government gives out a warning. He says soviet operatives all over the world, and especially in London, Paris and America, have been making use of Trotsky's return for purposes of political propaganda. This, and this only, was the actual motive of the triumphant return. By bringing back Trotsky to power, he is making Trotsky an "economic expert" similar to Joseph Caillaux of France—the Moscow rulers hope to use him to regain absolute control of the army. In the meantime they are spreading the false news that the former prime minister has become insane, hoping it will help them to obtain loans, especially in London and Paris.

GLENN FRANK, editor of the Century Magazine and only thirty-eight years old, has been invited by the board of the University of Wisconsin to become the president of that institution. Mr. Frank is a native of Atkinson and received his education in Northwestern and Lincoln Memorial universities. For several years he was assistant to the president of Northwestern.

IN TENNESSEE they are about to try a first case in which an instructor is accused of violating the state law forbidding the teaching of the theory of evolution in state schools. A preliminary hearing of the charges resulted in the instructor's being held to the grand jury. The fundamentalists of the country are intensely interested in seeing that the statute is upheld, and without doubt, Bryan, their high priest among the faiths, has offered his legal services to the prosecution. He says the "scientists of America are 'dishonest scoundrels' who are afraid to tell their beliefs and 'burrow in the ground and steal away the faith of our children.'"

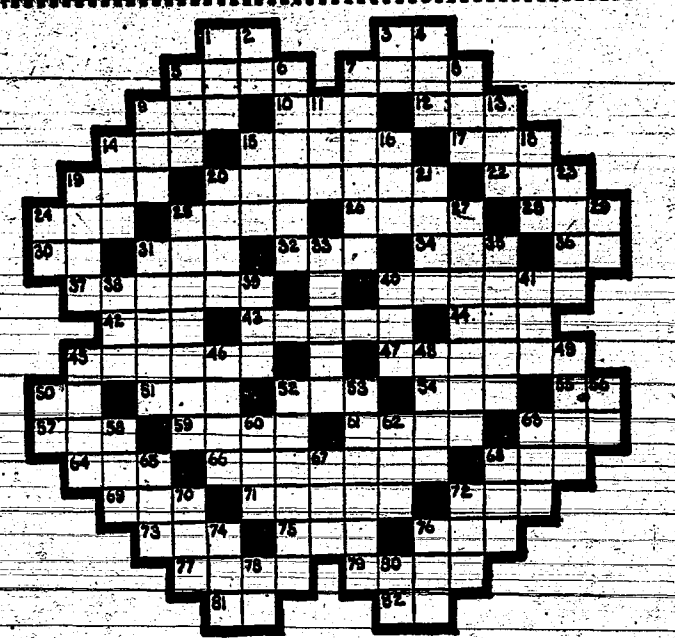

DEATH removed last week several notable persons. Among them were Miss Amy Lowell, an eminent American poet and critic and sister of President Lowell of Harvard; Sir Henry Rider Haggard, celebrated English writer of tales of romance and adventure; Herbert Quirk, American author and editor; General Mangin, who gained undying fame by his defense of Verdun in the World War; Sir John MacGregor, O'Brien, rector of the North American college at Rome; and William V. Massey, premier of New Zealand.

AS IT had been expected, the sentences passed on the two soldiers at Honolulu, convicted of trying to organize a communist league among their comrades, have been greatly reduced. Maj. Gen. W. R. Smith, after reviewing the court-martial proceedings, cut the sentences from 40 and 30 years to three years and one year.

Blow Nose Properly. In blowing the nose the handkerchief should be held loosely behind it or one nostril should be held at a time. If the person blows his nose like a trumpet he forces too much air into the ears, with the result that the drums are blown out of position. Hygiene.

Solution of Last Week's Puzzle.

ACROSS: 1. A preposition. 2. An indefinite article. 3. A leveling strip put on before the lifts of a heel. 4. A Scandinavian god. 5. To regard studiously. 6. A leap robe. 7. A place to store grain. 8. Window accessories. 9. A thick-skinny "to or toward". 10. To plunge or immerse. 11. A colleague. 12. To exact money for the support of the government. 13. To transfer for a consideration. 14. Unable to perceive sounds. 15. A girl's nickname. 16. A thick-skinny "to or toward". 17. This or that female. 18. A jewel. 19. The uniting of the parts of a wound by stitching (surgical). 20. Arboreal monkeylike animals. 21. To permit. 22. A gold coin of the United States. 23. A money introduced into England by the Danish invaders. 24. One who strikes. 25. To revolve round a central point. 26. A person. 27. Human ingenuity. 28. An East Indian dipterocarpaceous timber tree. 29. The back of anything. 30. Part of the foot. 31. A preposition meaning "in favor of". 32. A hard-shelled fruit. 33. One who affirms solemnly. 34. A dance step. 35. A combustible mixture used for illuminating. 36. To come in. 37. A misce. 38. A kind of nut. 39. A misce. 40. Open trench of wood or metal. 41. A country in Asia. 42. A possessive pronoun. 43. For example (Latin initials).

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below. The letters in the black spaces are not to be filled in. The word which with all the white spaces up in the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black squares. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

PRIZES STIMULATE

INVENTIVE GENIUS

The simple expedient of offering prizes of $50 has resulted in the discovery that there are 152 amateur inventors in England whose inventions have a commercial value. The Institute of Inventors in London offered prizes for the best inventions in several classes, and about 500 inventions were submitted from which four winners were selected. The 152 inventions will be submitted to various manufacturers, asserts the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The major prizes were awarded to the inventor of a kettle with a lid that will not fall off a portable fire, a telescope based on the theory of relativity for gauging the speed of machinery, and a machine for bedding rods and tubes.

St. William Grey-Wilson, head of the institute, is an inventor of renown, and his house is full of his handiwork. One of the most ingenious is in the chicken house. A few grains of corn are placed in a tin beneath the perches. When the chickens wake and peck at the corn a spring is released which opens the door of the house.

Sikhism Newest Religion

About 2,000,000 residents of northwestern India in the Punjab district are followers of the newest religion of accepted standing, as differentiated from passing modern fads or cults. The teaching arose from the proclamation of a young Hindu prophet about the time of Luther. It differed from Christianity in the belief of transmigration and fatalism. Millitarius was added in self-defense when other Hindu tribes attacked the Sikhs. The Sikhs reject idolatry, caste, wine, tobacco and infanticide. They are a sturdy, rugged type not found elsewhere in India.

Blow Nose Properly

In blowing the nose the handkerchief should be held loosely behind it or one nostril should be held at a time. If the person blows his nose like a trumpet he forces too much air into the ears, with the result that the drums are blown out of position. Hygiene.

Why "Privileged"?

The privileged class is anyone who has something we would like and can't get.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

DIG FOR RELICS

LEFT BY ROMANS

Some of Britain's unemployed recently became seekers of hidden treasure. The first job to which several scores of men were assigned was that of excavations at the Roman-Richborough castle, near Deal, which work is designed purely to solve the mystery of a great pile of concrete substance within the center of the ruins, the Boston Transcript says.

Bronze brooches and pins, believed to have been used by the women of those days for fixing up their hair, were unearthed recently, as well as parts of bronze statues, chains and an embossed gold ornament, also probably worn by women. About ninety Roman coins were also dug up by the excavators, among them being a gold piece of the Emperor Arcadius dating from 388 A. D. to 395 A. D.

Electrocute Rats

Rats became a pest around Toronto, Canada. The engineers rigged up a device fastened to the end of a high-tension wire near the ground. A piece of tin was placed beneath. To get the cheese used for bait Mr. Rat steps on the tin, completing the circuit, and his career ends right there. Scores were killed in a single night.—New York World.

No Wonder

The new baby had cried almost continuously for three weeks. Every Harold was disturbed. It seemed to the land every where he went he heard the cries of his baby brother. He heard a lot about storks carrying babies to happy homes and remarked rather sarcastically one evening after listening to the baby's wails. "Well, it is no wonder that they chucked him out of heaven."

Advice by Wholesaler

Physicians admit that after all their research they really know very little about either the cause or the cure of a cold. But then it doesn't matter. Everybody else knows all about colds, and will give you free advice if you give the slightest hint that you will listen.—Kansas City Star.

Suez a Lockless Canal

Suez canal has no locks and is 100 miles long, while the Panama canal is 40 miles in length.

STRIKING FEATURES OF NEW STAR COUPSTER

Flexible door windows that may be lowered or raised like pullman car curtains and that disappear within the top of the body when raised are a striking feature of the new Star coupster.

In reality the coupster is a convertible car, affording all the comforts of closed car transportation, yet convertible into an open car by the simple expedient of raising two disappearing windows—a five-second operation. For all practical purposes it is two cars in one.

EFFICIENCY AND SAFETY OF CARS

Numerous Devices Add to Comfort and Satisfaction of Owner.

It is difficult to believe that the oil pressure gauges and the amperage meters which now appear on the instrument boards of virtually all makes of cars were once regarded by many as unnecessary frills. Today there are a number of accessories being added which are actually regarded, which is the same as saying that they would be appreciated if only their advantages were better known.

By equipping a car with some of these fittings, greater satisfaction, efficiency and safety will result. Anti front and rear bumpers to the car, at each end of the many rear signaling devices, keep a set of anti-skid chains handy and the car will be enormously benefited in proportion to the cost of the protection. Frequently such safety devices add to the car's appearance, and thus not only help protect the owner's investment, but add to it. A spotlight attached to the windshield and played upon the road may prevent wrecking the car in a ditch.

Take efficiency as another instance. A car that is operated without proper regulation of the cooling system is at all times running inefficiently. This is especially true in winter when the engine is constantly operated at the wrong temperature, either boiling over because the radiator is covered with the lap-rope or running cold because there is no covering at all. The market now offers several radiator covers with openings which can be operated from the dash.

Along the emergency line are other devices which are destined to alter the gasoline before it is admitted to the carburetor, thus preventing the entrance of dirty or watered gasoline to the carburetor or engine. A device of this character may pay for itself within a month after it is installed.

Then there are shock absorbers, which in addition to giving greater riding comfort, save the springs from breakage on the rebound and thus increase the life of the car by preventing breakdowns. Even cutouts which were at one time regarded as frills for the speed maniac are now shown to have a very important use. Regardless of the selling points of each accessory or all of them as a group, it is a fact that any one of them adds to the second-hand value of a car. So the motorist not only has the use of the accessories with which he equips his car and the savings on insurance, inconvenience, repair bills, etc., but he gets a return premium when he goes to sell the car.

Good Advice Is to Give Machine the Once-Over

There's economy, also satisfaction in giving your car the once-over in the spring, then if it needs repairs, make or anything else to bring it back to perfect form, have it done as quickly as possible.

Naturally the toll of a year's driving is most severe, and generally there is a reminder or two. Right here the old stitch-in-time principle works out. When the car is restored to its best shape, almost as good as the day it was bought, riding in it is far more enjoyable, also it will bring a much better price if you care to sell or expect to trade it in on a new car.

Letting your motor car run down is false economy. Eventually it costs you more and in the interim you are not happiest when riding along the highways.

Even little things which you may think are of no special consequence develop into big items in repair bills if allowed to run on without interruption.

Windshield Rattle

When the windshield glass becomes loose in its frame, it causes an annoying rattle. It is very difficult to close the frame so that it will grip the glass more securely without the possibility of breaking the latter. If the glass is not too loose the rattle can be eliminated by filling the space in the frame with shellac. This can be applied with a sharp pointed stick or a brush and should be applied slowly so that it will pack tightly in the opening.

Automobile Suggestions

License tags must not be obscured by bumpers, extra tires, etc., and must be kept free from grease, oil and dirt so that they are legible at all times.

English authorities keep automobile thefts at a minimum by a system of records which show the original and all subsequent owners of any one car. A finger-print record is also kept.

WATER INJURY TO TIRES IS SMALL

Running Through Stream Is Not Injurious.

Now and then in the course of an automobile trip a car has to pass through a stream, and the question is sometimes discussed whether the action of the water is harmful to the tires. The same question arises when the car is out in a heavy rain.

Such a wetting is practically nothing at all, either for damage or improvement. At any rate, the effect on the tire is not harmful. Two chief constituents of a tire are rubber and cotton, both vegetable substances, and as a rule water does not injure vegetable matter. As illustrative of this point, there is the old but true story of the farmer who, when one of his rubber boots fell into a well, placed the other on a shelf in a closet. Twelve years later when the well was cleaned the lost boot was found to be in excellent condition, but the boot on the shelf had fallen into ruin.

If running through a brook resulted in cooling a tire the effect would be decidedly beneficial, but a quick dash through the water has little effect on the heated air within the tire and consequently the temperature change in the tire after its bath is negligible.

Water itself apparently does no harm to tires, but the combination of air and moisture commonly known as humidity is very destructive, especially on the cotton in ordinary fabric tires. The moist air works in between the layers of the fabric and rots them out, sometimes even before the tires leave the manufacturer's storehouse. Cord tires stand humidity better.

The harmful effect of moist air is the chief reason why, when tires are stored, they should be kept in a dry atmosphere. As sunlight is also harmful, the storage place should be darkened.

Shabby Tires Are Not Favored for Any Car

Shabby tires on a good-looking car. Yet stand on any street corner today and count the number of patched-up, dilapidated tires which are being used to the last nail. The cost of keeping these tires running for a few hundred miles would nearly pay for new ones. Mileage such as this comes high.

Tire conservation does not mean picking up a deformed tire and putting it back into service at a big repair cost just to save a little rubber left in the tread. It means taking care of the tire from the first so that it will be able to deliver all the mileage built into it by the maker. When tires are so far worn that they are soon to blow, it is poor economy to repair them. Such a course means sacrifice of the inner tube as well.

Cheap, makeshift patches, hoots and temporary repairs of all kinds are now being called into use as never before, but patching up an old casing in which separation of fabric plies has already begun, cannot give the freedom from tire trouble on which the pleasure in motoring so largely depends.

Tying in Spring Leaves Will Prevent Spreading

Since the leaves in a spring have a tendency to spread apart, it is often hard to replace the spring tie-bolt in autos or trucks.

The easy way is to grip the head of the tie-bolt in a vise, and put all but the last four leaves one on top of the other. The last four leaves are put on crosswise, or spread around like the ribs of an umbrella, which allows the nut to be easily started on the bolt.

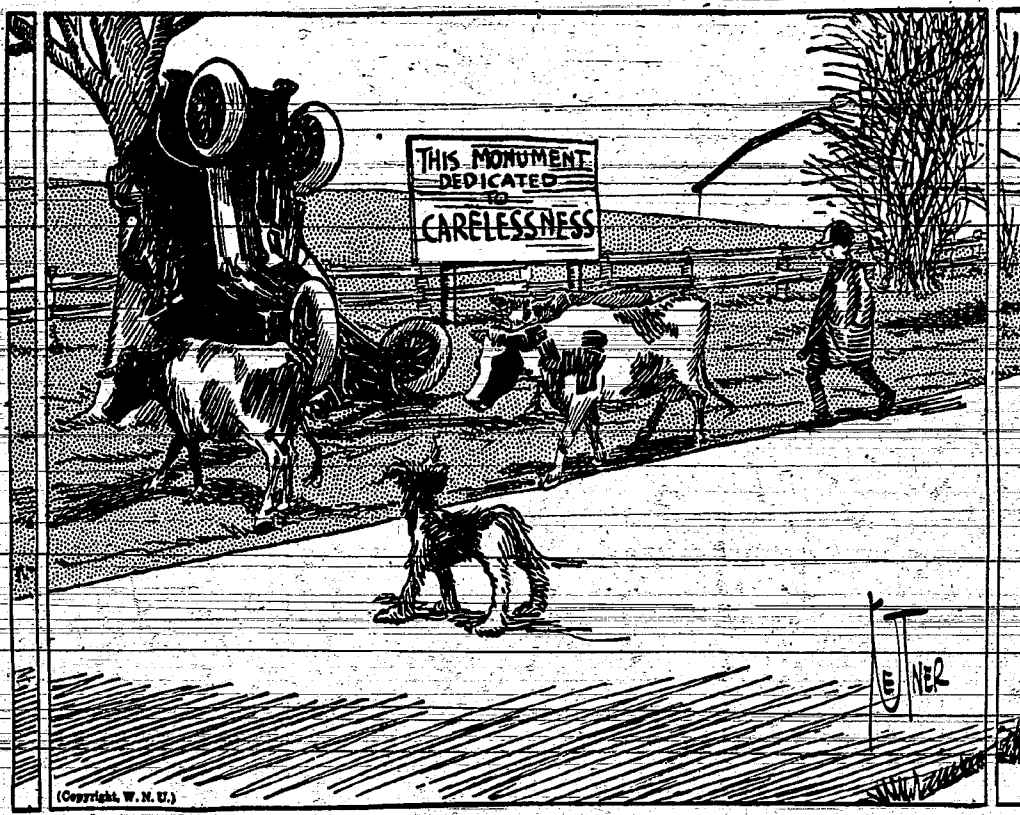

With the nut on the bolt, swing the bottom cross leaf into place. Then each succeeding leaf will slide easily into position. Then tighten the tie-bolt nut. Of course, the clamps on each end will have to be removed until the spring is assembled.

Anything These Days

Running downhill recently a driver found to his utter surprise that a motor truck, supposedly at rest in the downhill position on the right side of the road, was actually going uphill backwards. The driver could not get it through his head for a moment and nearly lost control of his machine trying to do it out, which showed that he was not prepared to expect most anything nowadays. The truck driver was utilizing the lower gear ratio of reverse in order to enable the engine to pull up an extra heavy load.

Speaking of Carrier Pigeons

Speaking of carrier pigeons—although no one has done so lately—reminds me of a yarn that may or may not be true—that was related at the front in 1918. The version most frequently told had it that a half company of a regiment in the Rainbow division, on going forward early one morning in a heavy fog for a raid across No Man's land, carried along with the rest of the customary equipment a homing pigeon. The pigeon in its wicker cage swung on the arm of a private, who likewise was burdened with his rifle, his extra rounds of ammunition, his trenching tool, his pair of wire cutters, his steel helmet, his gas mask, his emergency ration and quite a number of other more or less cumbersome items.

It was to be a surprise attack behind a cloak of the fog, so there was no artillery preparation beforehand, nor barrage fire as the squads climbed over the top and advanced into the mist-hidden beyond. Behind, in the post of observation and in the post of command—"P. O." and "P. C." those were called in the algebraic terminology of the war—the colonel and his aides and his intelligence officers waited for the sound of firing. When after some minutes the distant rattle of the rifle fire came to their ears they began calculating how long reasonably it might be before word reached them by one or another medium of communication touching on the results of the foray. But the ground telephone remained mute, and no runner returned through the fog with tidings. The suspense increased as time passed.

Suddenly a pigeon sped into view, flying close to the earth. With eager eyes following it in its course, the winged messenger circled until it located its portable cage just behind the colonel's position and fluttering down it entered its familiar shelter.

A robotic member of the staff hustled up the ladder in half a minute he was tumbling down again, clutching in one hand the little scroll of paper that he had found fastened about the pigeon's leg. With fingers that trembled in anxiety the colonel unrolled the paper and read aloud what was written upon it.

What he read, in the hurried chronography of a kid private, was the following succinct statement: "I'm tired of carrying this d—n bird."

The Pride of a Creative Genius

A colored person of a formidable aspect was arraigned in a South Carolina court of justice on a charge of mayhem. As Exhibit "A" for the case of the prosecution, the mutilated victim of his wrath was presented for the jurors' sympathetic eyes. The face of the victim was but a little more than a recent slit—a place where a face had been, but was no longer.

When the jury very promptly and very properly had returned a verdict of guilty, his honor, the presiding judge, pointing to the chief complaining witness and addressing the defendant, said:

"This is the most lamentable example of brutality I have ever seen in a long experience on the criminal bench. Surely no human being, unless he were inspired by infernal influences and hellish suggestions, could deliberately work such wreckage as you have worked upon the countenance of a defenseless and helpless fellow creature. Demons from below surely must have prompted you in what you did. It must have been the devil himself who urged you on and on."

"Well, judge," said the prisoner, "come to think of it, I ain't shore but what you're right. As I look back on it now it do seem lak to me 'at when I was cuttin' his nose loose from his face wid a razor, the devil was right behind me, sayin' 'This right separate him from his nose.' An' I spects it must a been dem demmons you mentioned, which suggested to me 'at I stompin' out his front teeth."

"But judge, bime-by his ear was strictly my own idea!"

When the Dawn of Understanding Came

The caller was undeniably large. When he walked he rumbled and one had the feeling that should he sit down suddenly he'd splash.

Dressed in the simple overalls of a husbandman, he wallowed into the office of a lawyer in the foothills of the Tennessee mountains.

Having given his name and his post office address, he stated that he desired to bring suit against a neighbor for $10,000 damages on account of libel.

"How did he libel you?" asked the lawyer.

"Well, suh," stated the aggrieved party, "he up and called me a hippopotamus—that's wut he done, consarn his picture!"

"When did he call you this name?"

"It's a goin' on two years ago."

"When did you first hear about it?"

"That very day."

"Indeed," said the lawyer, "then why did you wait nearly two years to begin taking steps to bring suit against him?"

"Well, suh," stated the prospective plaintiff, "on'th that there Ringling Brothers' circus showed yistiddy in Knoxville an' I went down fur to see it. I'd thought, all the time, that he was payin' me a compliment."

"Interesting Items"

Butternut and walnut trees produce a sweet sap much like that of the sugar maples.

Three cleanings of seed are necessary to remove all of the parasites that cause plant disease.

If a cloth dipped in soapuds is used to mop up milk which has boiled over the stove, no stain will be left.

A nine-hole golf course, laid out on the roof of a building in Atlanta, Ga., is said to be of great aid to practicing players.

THE PRINTING PRESS

Teddy's father owned a newspaper and some day when Teddy grew older he was going to own a newspaper, too. Maybe he would share with his daddy, or his daddy would share with him.

Either way it would be all right. They would work together and others would work with them. They would be most fearfully busy all the time but they would always enjoy themselves.

No matter how hard they worked it would be fun. For there would be so many excitements. There would be news to gather and stories to write.

Teddy knew how news was gathered. It wasn't just picked up and picked up or gathered flowers, as you might say. You telephoned and you went around and talked to people and they told you what they had heard. And then they told you what they had heard.

There would be lots of news to write. They would be busy all the time but they would always enjoy themselves.

Then there would be a particularly big day in the week when the paper went to press and a man stood by it and watched the papers come off, covered with all the news, all so neatly printed in columns of type.

Teddy had been over the office many times. He knew all about it. When they were busy he didn't bother to ask questions or to get in the way, but sometimes when they had a little time they would explain how everything was put together and how it came out as it did.

There was a beautiful smell of ink and presses and machinery about his daddy's office. It was a very glorious place.

Then one day his daddy told him that they were expecting a big press. The one they had would still be used for some jobs but a bigger one was coming upon which to print the paper.

The paper had grown in size and in popularity and Teddy's daddy was very happy for the paper to him was like a human being. He looked up to it, he wanted to do his best for it, he wanted it to be as perfect as it could be, always improving, always doing its utmost for it.

Teddy had seen his father often of late with pencil and paper, jotting down figures and when his father started to let down figures it always meant that sooner or later something new would be added to the office.

Now it would be a big press. Teddy was sure that it had started. It was on its way. It would take a week to travel from its home where it had been made to his daddy's office.

But in the meantime his daddy's office was as busy as ever. A great pit was dug in the earth down below the floor of the office and a foundation of bricks all put together with lovely soft squishy clay which would dry and keep them in place, was put about the pit.

Then everything was in readiness. And then the press arrived. It came in a closed car upon the railway tracks and an engine pulled its car along with others. Oh, what a monster it was, what a gorgeous, jolly, human, wonderful monster!

Teddy loved it ever since he had heard it was coming to them, and that it had started on its way.

Every day, every night, he had thought about it. He had wondered if it was having a comfortable journey. He hoped it was.

It seemed strange that it wouldn't want anything to eat all the time, until it was fed great rolls of paper upon which to print news.

But Teddy felt quite certain the press was thrilled, too, that it was coming to lead an active life in his daddy's office.

He was quite certain of that. And when he saw the big press, so splendid, so powerful, so strong, a lump came in his throat and he blinked a little so the press wouldn't see his moist eyes, he said:

"Great, big press! My daddy's so glad to have you. Just do wonders for him, won't you? Your great, big press!"

BUSINESS MEN IN POLITICS

As long as we continue to needlessly and unjustly criticize men in public office we cannot hope to attract to public service men of sufficient caliber and acumen to conduct the nation's business on a plane that will bring the greatest good to the greatest number. Unfair criticism and heckling of public officials should be made just as taboo in this country as muckraking has become. Every good business man hesitates to enter public life, knowing that his personal and private affairs will be held up to merciless ridicule and scorn, nor can we blame him. Public service means personal sacrifice. There are many men today who are giving their best efforts to the government, who are sacrificing their income, their leisure and drawing heavily on themselves both physically and mentally. We have often advised business men to go into political life. We urge again the desirability of such action. They should become leaders, not only in business but in the political life of the country. But they should realize first of all that in entering politics they will be met with criticism and ingratitude from a few, but gradually this will pass away and they will be given the praise and gratitude they are deserving. We must, ourselves, first learn the lesson that we cannot hope to have business men in office unless we are willing to treat them as we do in our business relations with them.

WE'LL CONTINUE THE BATTLE

A writer, grouping for a smile the other day, said "the Third Party is in no danger of dying out as long as Senator La Follette is careful in crossing the street." While the Wisconsin senator is the apparent head and front of that movement in the United States, yet he is by no means the entire membership, as witness the six million votes cast last year for "red" symbolism in this country. The Bolshevistic movement in the United States is steadily going forward while we are lumbering in supposed security, and it will only be through earnest vigilance that we will be in position to fight it back in the next presidential election. Michigan farmers and Michigan dwellers in the smaller cities and communities were not led astray by the socialist platform of the Progressive Third Party, and it is to them we must look for support when the next disguised attempt against organized government and we propose to continue the battle against radicalism in this country until it is no longer a menace to the principles and policies of representative government that has made us the greatest nation upon the earth.

CONSERVATIVE LABOR LEADERSHIP

All indications point to be that organized labor in our country is upon more conservative paths. Under the leadership of William Green, the new president of the A. F. of L., consistently conservative course than under Samuel Gompers. President Green was one of the Federation's executive minority that opposed the league with the Third Party in the late presidential campaign. President Green's slogan is not politics but concentrated effort to improve the economic and legal status of the American working class. This is sound Americanism from the standpoint of both capital and labor.

TAX COLLECTIONS AHEAD OF ESTIMATES

Tax collections, according to the Federal authorities, are still running ahead of Treasury estimates. This appears to make sure another substantial reduction next winter. According to Treasury reports the income tax receipts for the first nine months of the present fiscal year—up to March 31, 1925, were $1,299,850,000 against $1,408,000,000 of the preceding fiscal year. This decline of $108,000,000 is remarkable in view of the 25 per cent reduction in income taxes which had not gone into effect in March, 1924. There was an indicated surplus on June 30th of well over $100,000,000, and the latest figures estimate that next year's surplus is expected to run beyond $400,000,000. Present tax rates may be safely lowered, thus relieving everybody who pays them directly or indirectly. It is most essential that the surplus be so arranged that there will be a stimulation in the transfer of capital from exempt bonds into production. We insist that business men should pay every tax attention to the financial situation, as well as to the attitude of their politicians and their representatives in Congress in next session. There should be a most drastic attack made on any public man who tries to play politics with the next revenue bill.

For the Seniors "Skip" day celebration yesterday they enjoyed a motor trip to Cadillac with a picnic dinner. By chance there happened to be a dancing party on at Cadillac and the happy crowd remained for the evening. Altogether the day was one that will not soon be forgotten by the Class of '25.

FRESHENING BREEZES

Have we the assurance of Mr. Ford that if he gets those 400 ships he won't start off to Europe on another peace mission?

Wonder if in a hundred and fifty years from now they will be celebrating the ride of Mr. Dawes?

Many a young and short-sighted parson has had the pulpit kicked out from under him by a good looking choir leader.

What has become of the old-fashioned family who counted "the height of luxury to take in a traveling tent show a couple times during the summer season?"

Our idea of a hick town is where the dominie still persists in wearing a frock coat.

Some men have marvelous memories. A fellow was telling the other day about the time he attended a world's series game at Detroit.

The old-fashioned lady who utters to recite, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" now has a flapper granddaughter who knows where the strayed lamb is afloat.

Cheer up, boys! It would be long until summer taxes will be in our midst.

YOUNG WOMAN SUCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Mary Barber, wife of Ross Barber of this city passed away at Grayling Mercy Hospital at 6:15 Monday afternoon after a few days illness of pneumonia, having been removed to the hospital from her home last Friday noon in a serious condition.

Mrs. Barber was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Charley of Beaver Creek township and was born in Austria and last Sunday marked her 25th birthday anniversary. When but a babe her parents came to America and settled in Chicago, where they resided until they moved to Crawford county and bought their present farm in Beaver Creek township. The young woman was united in marriage September 2, 1918, to Ross Barber, who survived together with two small sons, Clarence and Nicholas. Also she is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Charley three sisters and one brother, Mrs. George Ellis, Rose and Helen Charley and George Charley.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning with services at St. Mary's church. Interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

Those from out of town who came to be attendance at the funeral were Clarence Barber and daughters Mrs. Dear Hall and Miss Edith Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ingersoll and family, and Mr. Brewer, all of Kalamazoo county.

The untimely death of the young wife and mother is very sad and the remaining members of the family have the sympathy of their neighbors and friends in their bereavement.

SAD DISAPPOINTMENT

"Why do you look so sorrowful, Murphy?" asked Pat.

"I just heard a man call another man a liar," replied Murphy, "and the man that was called a liar said the other man would have to apologize or there would be a fight."

"And why should that make you so sad?"

"The other man apologized."

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Following a survey made of ten thousand of the leading industrial institutions of the country, the statement is made that business prospects for the summer are healthier and on a more stable basis than they have been since the close of the war. The survey, which covered practically every industry, revealed that production is at a healthy glow, wages are on the gain, with gradually reducing prices. Price variations are less severe than a year ago and the country is entering a period of purchasing, not of boom proportions, but of that steady persistence that gives basis for unusual confidence.

CARD OF THANKS

Lower First Cost and Upkeep

There is a double economy in the Ford Car that materially lowers the cost of motoring for the millions of Ford owners today.

First—a Ford Car is the lowest priced on the market—the least expensive car the automotive industry has ever produced. Second—it costs less to operate and maintain. Fuel consumption is low—you get high mileage from tires. Repairs and replacements are infrequent and charges, even for the labor involved, are small.

The Ford Weekly Purchase Plan makes it possible for anyone to buy a Ford on the easiest of terms. You may pay for your Ford out of your regular earnings. Ask any authorized Ford dealer about the details of this plan or write us direct, using this coupon.

BUSINESS MEN IN POLITICS.

As long as we continue to needlessly and unjustly criticize men in public office we cannot hope to attract to public service men of sufficient caliber and acumen to conduct the nation's business on a plane that will bring the greatest good to the greatest number. Unfair criticism and heckling of public officials should be made just as taboo in this country as "muckraking" has become. Every good business man hesitates to enter public life, knowing that his personal and private affairs will be held up to merciless ridicule and scorn, nor can we blame him. Public service means personal sacrifice. There are many men today who are giving their best efforts to the government, who are sacrificing their income, their leisure and drawing heavily on themselves both physically and mentally. We have often advised business men to go into political life. We urge again the desirability of such action. They should become leaders not only in business but in the political life of the country. But they should realize first of all that in entering politics they will be met with criticism and ingratitude from a few, but gradually this will pass away and they will be given the praise and gratitude they are deserving. We must, ourselves, first learn the lesson that we cannot hope to have business men in office unless we are willing to treat them as we do in our business relations with them.

WE'LL CONTINUE THE BATTLE.

A writer, grouping for a smile the other day, said: "The Third Party is in no danger of dying out as long as Senator LaFollette is careful in crossing the streets." While the Wisconsin senator is the life of the party and front of that movement in the United States, yet he is by no means the entire membership, as witness the six million votes cast last year for "red" symbolism in this country. The Bolshevistic movement in the United States is steadily going forward while we are slumbering in supposed security, and it will only be through eternal vigilance that we will be in position to fight it back in the next presidential election. Michigan farmers and Michigan dwellers in the smaller cities and communities were not led astray by the socialist platform of the Progressive Third Party, and it is to them we must look for support when the next disguised attempt against organized government and we propose to continue the battle against radicalism in this country until it is no longer a menace to the principles and policies of representative government that has made us the greatest nation upon the earth.

CONSERVATIVE LABOR LEADERSHIP.

All indications point to the fact that organized labor in our country is upon more conservative paths. Under the leadership of William Green, the new president of the A. F. of L., the conservative course than under Samuel Gompers. President Green was one of the Federation's executive minority that opposed the league with the Third Party in the late presidential campaign. President Green's slogan is not politics but concentrated effort to improve the economic and legal status of the American working class. This is sound Americanism from the standpoint of both capital and labor.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

Following a survey made of ten thousand of the leading industrial institutions of the country, the statement is made that business prospects for the summer are healthier and on a more stable basis than they have been since the close of the war. The survey, which covered practically every industry, revealed that production is at a healthy glow, wages are on the gain, with gradually reducing prices. Price variations are less severe than a year ago and the country is entering a period of purchasing, not of boom proportions, but of that steady persistence that gives basis for unusual confidence.

Lower First Cost and Upkeep

There is a double economy in the Ford Car that materially lowers the cost of motoring for the millions of Ford owners today.

First—a Ford Car is the lowest priced on the market—the least expensive car the automotive industry has ever produced.

Second—it costs less to operate and maintain. Fuel consumption is low—you get high mileage from tires. Repairs and replacements are infrequent and charges, even for the labor involved, are small.

The Ford Weekly Purchase Plan makes it possible for anyone to buy a Ford on the easiest of terms. You may pay for your Ford out of your regular earnings. Ask any authorized Ford dealer about the details of this plan or write us direct, using this coupon.

The American Legion

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

DEVELOPMENTS IN FUND ACTIVITIES

Recent major developments of the American Legion campaign to raise a $5,000,000 endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World War have been: Organization of the American Legion Endowment Fund corporation to administer the fund, selection of the Fletcher-American National Bank at Indianapolis as a depository for the fund, extension of the campaign to include every state in the country and the final clean-up campaign in the South.

National Commander James A. Drain, announcing the formation of the endowment fund corporation, said that it was established solely to administer the fund. It is not authorized by its articles of incorporation to do anything else, he said.

"The corporation was created," the commander declared, "in order to provide absolutely for the safekeeping and proper administration of the fund in perpetuity. The fund is a sacred trust. The Legion has left no stone unturned to insure that the income derived from it shall be used for the relief of the disabled veterans and the orphans of the war and for that purpose only."

Commander Drain is president of the corporation. Gen. John H. McGuire of Cleveland, banker and member of the Legion's national finance committee, is vice president. National Judge Advocate Robert A. Adams is secretary and John H. Hinkens, director of administration at national headquarters, treasurer of the corporation.

Directors are, besides the president and the vice president: Gov. James G. Scruggs of Nevada, Judge Royal A. Stone of the Minnesota Supreme court, Alexander Fitz-Hugh, Mississippi business man; Gen. Charles H. Cole, Massachusetts; Wilder S. Metcalf, Kansas, member of the Legion's national finance committee; Edgar B. Dunlap, Georgia, also a member of the finance committee; and National Adj. Tussell Creviston, Indiana.

At the same time, the campaign for the fund was extended from the states in the South and Middle West, where it was first launched to include every state. In the East it was extended into Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Ohio.

The Western group was composed of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Iowa, Missouri, Colorado and Nebraska.

Urges Continuation of American Legion Sports

Charles W. Paddock, of Los Angeles, sprint champion, who has been called "the world's fastest human" is interested in "world athletics." With Loren Macdonald, he started recently to tour the world under the auspices of many athletic associations and governments to create a more definite interest in track and field competition. Speaking of the value of athletics in promoting world peace, Mr. Paddock said:

"In ancient times, the several Greek states were brought into a bond of fellowship surpassed by no similar international treaty that exists today. And if those people could accomplish this through the spirit of sport, more than two thousand years ago, it would seem that in this enlightened age, the whole world might come to share a similar feeling."

"The American Legion, for example, has fostered sport unceasingly since its creation and a continuation of this same policy will greatly increase our percentage of athletes, remove the spirit that creates war and will hasten the day when men the world over can say, 'We are brothers.'"

Legion Aids in Finding Places for Unemployed

During the past year no fewer than 2,000,000 men found employment through the federal government working in co-operation with state agencies and the American Legion, according to a report by the United States employment service of the Department of Labor at Washington.

In states not having public employment service to co-operate with the federal government, liaison is maintained through the "jobless man and the business-job" through the agency of the Legion.

Unskilled day laborers and trained executives alike secured jobs through the government and its allied agencies.

A Legion service official, commenting on the work of finding men jobs, said:

"The finding of employment for men out of work is a necessary public function. Nothing on earth is so important to a man as a job. As it is, too little attention is paid to the assembling and distribution of human labor."

Iowa's Gold Star Highway
Governor Kendall of Iowa has designated the White Pole road, extending from Council Bluffs to Davenport through Des Moines, as the "Iowa Gold Star Highway." Along this memorial road a tree will be planted for each of 3,600 Iowa service men and women who lost their lives in the World War. Where planting is impossible a bronze marker will be placed.

The American Legion, department of Iowa, sponsored the "Gold Star Highway."

SUMMER FROCKS OF VOILE; MODERN GLOVE IS ELABORATE

IF GENTLE spring were to come walking in, with a frown on her face and no daffodils, apple blossoms or lilacs in her arms, she would hear some grumbling on every hand. But if she were to arrive without a train of sheer, dainty, colorful cotton fabrics, a riot of protest would storm about her. But she doesn't take any such chance—always lovely voiles, or gaudies, mulls and the like drift in and are usually well launched before even the peach trees have put on their spring pink. Sometimes one of these fabrics and sometimes another dom-draw all of passion, feminine kind unto itself, at least not if a glove store happens to be next door.

Silk gloves, which to catch a glimpse of is to covet, carry the cunningest of cuffs, some cut in petals, lapped one over another, lined with contrasting color and spreading about the wrist like a full-blown flower. Then there are cuffs perforated as effectively as the paper full about lady's colonial bouquet. Platted ruffles, flare cuffs with colorful silk pippings, cuffs so heavily embroidered as to almost conceal the background, cuffs narrow, but the styles created for midsummer's gayeties and worn almost anywhere.

The colors in voiles, which are selected to be popular this season, are entrancing. In shades that prove wonderfully becoming. Many of the pinks have a yellow, yellow, yellow, green, are delicate, in light or pale tones; blues are stronger but soft with powder blue, periwinkle and navy blue represented. Yellow is either of the sunny kind or has the greenish, citron tone and there are a number of beautiful orchid shades. These are usually flatterer under artificial light.

Even the longer gloves are reflecting fashion's whimsical mood. In some instances the new colored and white silk gloves are boasting tucks toward simple stitchery, tucks, hemstitching, and drawn work. In keeping with the character of the material, whose charm lies in its daintiness and color. Narrow fingerless gloves fit in many schemes of adornment also. Both needlework and lace appear on the neck, plumed, narrow cut lace in double folds about neck and sleeves and as an outline for the yoke and front panel in the bodice, with outline embroidery in flower design. The girle is of narrow ribbon slipped through slashes, at a low waistline. Pleat edging finishes the slashes and is useful in making many kinds of trimmings.

Whether fashion is more interested in our hands or our feet, is a question this season. It is indeed a close competition between our shoes and our gloves as to which shall attain to greater extremes of fantastic interpretation. No longer does a window display of footwear prove a magnet to out their length, as the picture shows. Others show introduction of wee platings, oftentimes alternated with tucks. However, it is the short glove which has the monopoly, just now, on originality of design.

Among the writer-length gloves of striking design are white kid ones, with narrow hand-painted cuffs. Other glove types accorded an important place in the accessories for spring and summer—stress exquisite petal-point embroidery. These are found among the more expensive types. Indeed, so handsome are some of the new cuffs, and so worth while, when the glove wears out, these are renewed and stitched onto a new pair. There is a pronounced tendency to match the gloves and hosiery.

Fashion News Notes
Many of the debutantes are wearing haughty of feathers or brilliant in the places where their shingles used to show and the popularity of the fringe hat is being indicated by the increased number of transformations used to disguise the fact that the hat has been bobbed.

Lingerie-Concedes to Mode
Not content with designing lingerie in every color of the rainbow, creators of intimate apparel have turned to materials even more striking in effect than the colored voiles and crepes which they have used in other seasons. Among the latest novelties is lingerie made of cream or black chiffon which has large flower motifs in brilliant of pastel colors.

Extremely smart are ensembles fashioned of heavy black ribbed silk trimmed with natural colored fur.

What Will They Do With Thirty Cents?

Furry Savings Jr., New Britain, Conn., fifteen-year-old captain of a baseball team, has received a dozen brand new big league baseballs instead of an old one for his team.

The youngest wrote Maj. John L. Griffith, executive vice president of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, which is conducting a campaign to revive amateur baseball among youths, asking for an old ball. The boy added that the finances of his organization had been reduced to 30 cents.

When George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, and a firm believer in boys' sports, was advised of the appeal he volunteered to send the balls.

MANAGER MCGRAW IS VERY CONSERVATIVE

Not Willing to Make Any Statement as to Final Standing of Giants.

"It is too risky a thing to pick a four consecutive-time winner of a pennant to repeat again," said Manager J. J. McGraw of the New York Giants to a representative of the Christian Science Monitor. "For that reason I shall decline to make any statement relative to the final standing of the Giants, although I will say that the club is as strong, if not stronger than last year."

This is the conservative stand taken by Manager McGraw and it is well warranted. There are too many things that might crop out in a team which has won four straight pennants, chiefly among these is overconfidence. Overconfidence in a team is nearly as detrimental as underconfidence for it makes the team play listless. However, with the leadership of McGraw as the biggest obstacle to overconfidence that one can think of, the Giants look as though they might repeat for a record for all time.

There is one big reason why I might consider the Giants stronger this year," said McGraw, "and that is the extremely fine showing of our right-handed pitchers. Our strongest opponent will probably be Pittsburgh, but we cannot underestimate any of the clubs. It does not pay, under estimation of other clubs gives overconfidence the chance to creep in, just as well as overestimation of one's own team's ability."

"I will continue the shifting of G. L. Kelly and William Terry from the outfield to first base, according to the pitching we face this year. Terry hit for only about .230 last season, but I expect him to improve tremendously. The veteran pitchers, A. N. Nott and J. N. Denton are fully as effective as a year ago."

Robin Made Good Job of Plastering Nest

A family of bird lovers watched a robin building its nest, the New York Indianapolis reports. After it was practically completed the robin flew to the bird bath and got himself thoroughly wet.

"The robin, taking a bath after his arduous labors are over," said the family. Once out of the bird bath the robin flew to the flower garden, where the top soil was dusty and made himself thoroughly muddy. Then it plumped its mud-covered self down in the nest and turned round several times, evidently finishing the shaping of the nest and cementing the inner surface with the mud. The nest was as smooth as though it had been done by hand.

Now the bird lovers are wondering whether the robin figured out the process of plastering the nest by getting inside and turning round and round.

U. S. Tobacco Consumption

The United States government made a third of a billion dollars out of the tobacco trade last year. Revenue from tobacco taxes notably from cigarettes, has been steadily increasing for many years. The total for 1924 was $334,601,405, compared with $317,541,820 in 1923. Taxes on cigarettes made up most of this, amounting to $218,143,198 in 1924 and $198,489,870 in 1923. Popularity of cigars is declining slightly, as indicated by the revenue declining from $47,059,353 in 1923 to $44,920,643 in 1924. Manufactured tobacco, including preparations for pipes and for chewing, increased slightly from $37,084,434 to $37,328,097. Snuff taxes decreased from $7,003,792 to $7,015,101.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

EXPERIENCE OF NERVOUS WOMAN

Weak, Blue, Discouraged—Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I was nervous and could not sleep, had crying spells and the blues, and didn't care if I lived or died. My right side was very bad and I had backache and a weakness. I read about your medicine in the papers and wrote for further information. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I have had good results in every way and am able to do my work again and can eat anything that comes along. My friends tell me how well I am looking."—Mrs. F. K. How Robert M. Koenig Found Remedy for Pimply Skin

For years my skin would break out every once in a while—and ointments did very little to help me.

I read a doctor's article stating that pimply skin usually comes from the stomach and bowels not getting rid of the poisons.

I tried Carter's Little Liver Pills for a few days—and since that time my skin is smooth and clear. Now I tell my friends the right way of getting rid of a broken out skin—and also of steering clear of upset stomach and sick headache. Carter's are all you claim for them.

FARM ECONOMICS

Get Hay—You Must Need It

Having the winter coming spring that we have, the hay does not get a lot done, and well prepared for next winter plainly advises his shiftness and lack of good management.

Prepare to feed heavily next winter. Not a farmer in Crawford county ought to buy a pound of roughage next winter.

Keep on sowing oats—make oat hay.

Time enough for two weeks yet. Keep on sowing. Keep plowing corn ground. Don't sit around wondering if it will ever warm up. Keep plowing. Have twice as large a field of corn as usual. Plant a lot of it close together so it will grow fine and make good feed.

It's cheaper to buy fodder corn seed at three dollars a bushel than to buy hay at $25 a ton next winter. Keep plowing for corn, and keep planting and sowing corn. Have feed or bust a tug.

Will It Be Stuck With It?

The 18 tons of fertilizer (acid phosphate) shipped in by the County Agent was shipped up very quickly. Many have asked for more.

Accordingly, I have telephoned to the American Agricultural Chemical Company of Detroit, for two tons (32 bags) more. It is here now.

It will be interesting to see if farmers will buy it for their corn, and if villagers will buy it for their gardens, or if the County Agent will be stuck with a $60 loss.

How Use.

Four sacks per acre for gardens and potatoes.

Three sacks per acre for root crops. You ought to raise roots, mangels, carrots and rutabagas, for feeding your stock this winter.

Three sacks per acre for alfalfa. You can sow alfalfa for a month yet. Cheaper to use fertilizer than go without.

Farmy Figuring.

Many a man tells the County agent that he (the man) can not afford to make a start with alfalfa.

Yet, these same men will somehow squeeze out money, late next winter for hay, which averages $25 a ton, to buy. They will never in a hundred years get ahead if they keep on buying hay.

$25 the price of a ton of hay would buy ten tons of lime, enough to lime five acres well.

Another ton of hay will buy the best certified Grimm alfalfa seed for those five acres.

These five acres will bring five tons of hay the year after sowing. Each ton of this hay is worth $25 for feed say nothing of the fact that alfalfa is worth $3.25 a ton as fertilizer.

The alfalfa meadow does not have to be built up each year, but can be cut twice a year for eight or ten years.

Alfalfa Fields By Old Band Mill.

I hope every farmer has given himself the treat of looking at the splendid large, thrifty field of alfalfa, south of the lumber piles, and east of the old band mill. This field, growing on light sand, has been there 14 years this summer and has been cut three times a year for several years, and is still going strong.

Will Build a Fine Barn.

C. C. Fink, formerly of the railroad eating house and Shuppenagons Inn, was a fine farm in Maple Forest Township, straight east of Frederic, across the road from the Sherman Farm.

Already having there a good new house, Mr. Fink will now build a Sears-Roebuck ready cut barn, and intend to put it up. Blue prints of the barn can be seen at the County Agent's office.

This Ought to Set You to Thinking. (Science and the Farmer.)

Tons of Water Needed by Crops to Grow a Ton of Dry Matter.

Dent Corn takes 310 tons of water to grow one ton.

Flint Corn takes 234 tons of water to grow one ton.

Red Clover takes 458 tons of water to grow one ton.

Oats takes 522 tons of water to grow one ton.

Potatoes takes 428 tons of water to grow one ton.

Where the Water Goes To.

Plenty of water to grow our crops is put into our soil by melting of the snow; but we let much of it dry away. When the soil is wet, when its texture is closed from packing by winter snows and early spring rains, the loss of water by evaporation is very rapid, it may be more than 20 tons per acre per day. If the water needed to grow the crop:

This loss can be greatly reduced by dragging or disking early in the season, and repeating the dragging or disking every week or ten days.

This is called "Using the dust Mule."

Don't be ashamed of being seen dragging to save soil moisture, for this moisture is the life-blood of your crops.

Riding Horses in Demand

Washington. While the number of riding horses bred in recent years has decreased enormously, army officers say the kind and type of this day is far superior in quality and breeding than in the past. Not only is there a demand in the army for good riding horses, but officers of the quarter-master corps, but horseback riding, polo and hunting are greatly on the increase and a good, well-bred riding horse is bringing a better price than at any time in the history of the United States.

Arrest Evolution Teacher

Nashville, Tenn.—A dispatch from Dayton, Tenn., says that J. T. Scopes, science teacher in the Rhea high school, was arrested on a charge of violating the new Tennessee law prohibiting the teaching of evolution in the state public schools. George W. Rappleyea, Dayton business man, was the complainant. It was stated that the defense would attack the constitutionality of the new law.

Soldiers Get Ice By Air

Paris.—Hemmed in by Russian hordes and facing slow death from thirst, French soldiers in isolated blockhouses took on a new lease of life when military comrades flew over the blockhouses in airplanes and dropped cakes of ice to provide the beleaguered men with a supply of drinking water, a statement given out by the French foreign office said.

Britons Replant Forests

London.—In an effort to make good the depletion of English forests during the war, the forestry commission of the government this year has planted more than 30,000,000 young trees, covering approximately 16,000 acres. It is the intention to double this number next year.

NEWS DISPATCHES FROM EVERYWHERE

Von Hindenburg Takes Oath of Office As President of German Republic

Berlin.—Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg was inaugurated president of Germany with quiet but impressive ceremonies. Except for a brief shout of protest from the Communists, the inauguration was carried out according to schedule, the field marshal being sworn into office by Reichstag President Paul Doebe before a crowd of one hundred.

The oath taken by the president was as follows:

"I swear to devote all my energies to the welfare of the German people, to increase their prosperity, to protect them from injury, to preserve the constitution and laws of the commonwealth, to perform my duties conscientiously and to deal justly with all."

To this he added the religious affirmation "So Help me God," thereby setting a new precedent for German presidents.

Train Wreck Kills Three

Terre Haute, Ind.—Three trainmen were killed and five others injured when the fast-caboosed Penna-passenger train No. 6, a double-header, was derailed at Blue Point, Ill., 35 miles west of here. Both engineers and a fireman were killed. The injured consisted of three mail clerks, an express messenger and second fireman. No passengers were reported injured. Both engines left the rails and turned over, followed by three mail and baggage cars. Cause of the derailment had not been officially determined.

Negotiate Rum Pact

Tokio.—Japan is negotiating a liquor treaty with the United States. It was learned here at the foreign office. The treaty was declared to be similar to existing liquor treaties already in force between the United States and England and other countries. It was understood the Japan-American treaty was to allow Japanese ships to carry liquor inside territorial waters of the United States under specified regulatory conditions.

Dodge's Auto Seized

Syracuse.—Flying from here by airplane, Mrs. Horace Dodge expected to recover in New York City, jewelry valued at $30,000, which was seized when her chauffeur was arrested in Batavia, N. Y., for transporting a considerable quantity of liquor in the Dodge private automobile. The automobile is being held in Buffalo, N. Y., and the chauffeur, Ralph Herrington, is out on $3,500 bail there, furnished by Horace Dodge.

Errors Bring Joy To Stamp Collector

Philatelist Ever on Watch for Printer's Mistakes.

Washington.—Consider the philatelist; how contrarily he works. Querer things have always been done in the name of collecting and all collectors have come to be regarded as having rules of their own by which they live and operate. But nothing they have done is more contrary to usual laws than the manner in which they have turned mistakes into fortunes.

Since time was, people have "professed to derive indirect profit from their mistakes, but the collector actually does reap material gain from errors."

Where do all the rare stamps come from? For what does the philatelist value them? There are the old stamps, of course, such as the postmaster stamps of the days before there were government issues, and there are stamps valuable for their sheer beauty of design and execution. There are the stamps of foreign countries which have had various political experiences such as the Alsace and Lorraine issues of 1870-1871. These are interesting as history.

Error increases value. But an exceedingly important and, to the layman, surprising source of rare stamps is the error. In every issue of stamps errors occur and every error increases the value of a stamp for the philatelist, but the error he loves best and the one for which he watchfully waits whenever a new issue of stamps is due is the inverted error. The inverted error is always liable to occur when the issue is a bi-color job, which means that the sheets of stamps must be printed twice. There is the danger, from the standpoint of the philatelist, that in the second printing at least one sheet will be turned upside down and come out with an inverted center. The last time the philatelic world had a thrill of this kind was in 1918, when the bi-color aero stamp issue was printed.

A young private stamp collector picked up $15,000 for the error made in this issue. The collector was Mr. Robey of Washington, a jeweler whose hobby is philately. He had been watching for the appearance of the new issue and when it came he started out to buy a 24-cent aero stamp. Sure enough, in a little branch post office of Washington he discovered his error—a stamp with its airplane inverted. He bought the entire pane of a hundred stamps and then called the clerk's attention to the error. The issue was called in and a hunt made for other errors by the post office officials, but no more were found. The other three panes of the sheet of errors were discovered at the bureau.

Mr. Robey sold his block of stamps to Eugene Klein of Philadelphia for $15,000 and the dealer in turn sold them to E. H. R. Green, son of Henry Green, for $20,000. Mr. Green broke the block, kept some for his own collection and put the others on sale on the regular market. They bring $750 each now and the stamp is said to have a "good future." Which means, hold on to your 24-cent error if you have one.

The first inverted error on record was made in 1800 in the 15, the 24 and 30-cent values. Some of these got into the hands of collectors before they were found and called in. An unusual copy of the 15-cent value was sold in New York recently for $4,100, and an unused 30-cent value fetched $3,500. Stamps, like eggs, are valuable in proportion as they are scarce.

In the 1901 Pan-American set there were inverted errors in the 1, 2 and 4-cent values. These have never demanded prices in four figures, but they disappear into collections not on the market.

The 5-Cent Red Error.

The most sensational error that has ever been made in the United States was the famous 5-cent red error of 1915. Its value is not yet great because it had such a wide distribution before it was called in. The price ranges from $10 to $14, according to whether the stamp has ten perforations or eleven, or no perforations at all. The 5-cent error is interesting on account of the way in which the mistake came about.

When the plates were ready for printing a "proof" was pulled and submitted to the inspector for approval. On proof of plate 7942, the inspector marked three impressions as lighter in tone than the others. These three were ordered removed from the plate and new impressions made. When the printer called for the roller to make these new impressions he received by mistake the roller for the 5-cent value, which greatly resembles the 2-cent roller upside down.

Nobody caught the mistake and the plate was approved and put to press. From March 7 until May 2 the sale of the issue went on before the error was discovered.

It is not to be supposed that only four errors have been made since 1800. Errors are being made in the time. Errors of ink and colors and errors in perforating. Down at the bureau of engraving and printing they confess to many mistakes. In every printing but to the expectant, eager philatelist it seems a long time between errors.
